

Nephos Fog Jets

When applied to the end of circulation ducts, Nephos Fog Jets rapidly reduce dust and temperature in the air.

During underground explosions, for example, a strong concentration of fog allows rapid precipitation of particulate matter and gaseous vapours, thus reducing significantly the wait-time following blasting and improving the work conditions.

